

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHURCH BUSINESS
PICKIN' YOUR TUNE
 ADMINISTRATION • 52ND NATIONAL CONFERENCE
WRITING A NEW SONG
 NASHVILLE TENNESSEE • JULY 12-16, 2008

We are faced with decisions everyday in church administration that affect church life. God calls all of us as church administrators to consider prayerfully all the possibilities before we make a decision. When it is all said and done, we must pick the way that would be pleasing to our Lord and helpful for the churches that we serve. Often this means doing something that we have not done before, which means we may end up PICKIN' A NEW TUNE and WRITING A NEW SONG.

This conference is designed to help you do just that! It will provide workshops and keynote speakers that will bring innovative ideas in the area of church administration. This conference will equip and inspire us to be "innovators" for the kingdom of God.

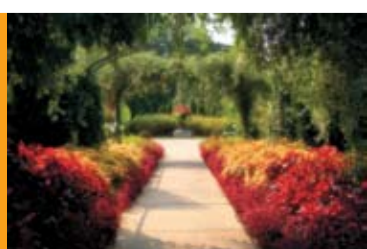

Bill Gruenewald
 General Conference Chair

Music City – Fun City

For most, Nashville begins with music. And, with more than 120 live music venues presenting every music genre, you will have no shortage of chances to enjoy the songs of Music City.

Nashville's music history began with the publishing of a book of hymns in 1824. Experience Music City for yourself with a visit to the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, and a walk through The District, downtown streets that are home to recording studios and record labels. Highlights include the historic RCA Studio B, Ryman Auditorium, and Hatch Show Print, renowned for its posters of Grand Ole Opry stars.

But, there is more to Nashville than music! History lovers will find significant locations, including Fort Nashborough; Belle Meade Plantation, an antebellum treasure; and The Hermitage, home of President Andrew Jackson.

The list of fun things to do is long—scenic, music-filled cruises on the Cumberland River aboard the General Jackson Showboat, world-class entertainment at the Grand Ole Opry, museums for adults and children—and much more.

Like to shop? The vitality of urban Nashville offers truly varied shopping experiences to those who enjoy its unique shopping districts.

The Gaylord Opryland Resort Home to the 2008 Conference

Nine acres of beautiful glass atriums with lush, indoor gardens, winding rivers, and pathways to discovery mark the Gaylord Opryland Resort as a remarkable destination. Wrapped into the dramatic, climate-controlled atriums are more than 20 dining venues serving tasty treats and gourmet thrills. The Relâche Spa is an elegant European-style spa and salon ready to delight with the latest massages and treatments. Nearby is the Gaylord Springs Golf Links, considered Nashville's premier course. The list of delights—beautiful pools, all-day children's activities, Opry Mills Mall—just goes on.

Writing a New Song May Take a Little Training

Sharpening your skills and building your knowledge as an administrator is the primary reason to attend the Nashville Conference.

More than 80 relevant, well-presented workshops; challenging keynote speakers; and the products and services of the 2008 Trade Show exhibitors will combine to tune up your administrative virtuosity.

But there is more. Call it "the conference community." It's the richness of the conference experience that will refresh and encourage you as hundreds of administrators gather to renew and build relationships and enjoy each other's friendship. Just ask anyone who has attended an NACBA conference!

The Nashville Conference will add up to an entertaining and educational experience that will pay off in benefits every day.

There is no place like Nashville and no opportunity like the 2008 National Conference.
